

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
April 30, 2013

Federal Reserve Presidents to Discuss the Global Economy with Leaders of Finance and Academia

What: Recovery 2013 – Strength or Stagnation?

Where: Sala Conferenze at the Palazzo Turati in Milan, Italy

When: Thursday, May 16, 2013, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Who: This event will feature the following leaders and policymakers in finance and academia:

- Charles Plosser, president and CEO of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia;
- Eric Rosengren, president and CEO of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston;
- Dan Bucsa, economist at UniCredit Bank AG;
- Michael Drury, chief economist of McVean Trading & Investments and program chair at the Global Interdependence Center;
- Carlo Favero, Deutsche Bank Chair in Quantitative Finance and Asset Pricing at Bocconi University;
- Kozo Koide, chief economist at DIAM;
- David Kotok, CIO of Cumberland Advisors and vice chair of the central banking series at the Global Interdependence Center;
- Catherine Mann, Barbara and Richard M. Rosenberg Professor of Global Finance at Brandeis University and board member at the Global Interdependence Center;
- John Silvia, chief economist of Wells Fargo;
- Jason Trennert, managing partner and chief investment strategist at Strategas; and
- George Tsetsekos, dean emeritus of Drexel University's LeBow College of Business and chairman of the board at the Global Interdependence Center.

Why: The speed and strength of the global economic recovery affects millions of people around the world. Join Presidents Charles Plosser and Eric Rosengren of the Federal Reserve Banks of Philadelphia and Boston respectively, as well as industry leaders and academics from the U.S. and Italy, as they discuss the prospect of recovery.

Contact: To register for this event or for more information, please contact Amanda D'Amico, manager of marketing and membership, at adamico@interdependence.org or 215-238-0990.

###